SUSTAINABLE DEVELOPMENTS GOALS (SDGs)

SUSTAINABLE DEVELOPMENTS GOALS (SDGs)

The world in which we live is global, and inter-dependent, and that is what the new SDGs recognize. The new development agenda has a truly universal framework that goes beyond the separatism of simply environmental, social or economic sustainability. It is an inclusive agenda for world prosperity that incorporates the safe operating space of a stable and resilient planet.¹

"We Have A Plan For Our Planet", by Johan Rockström, Director of the Stockholm Resilience Centre at Stockholm University and Peter Bakker, President and CEO of the WBCSD

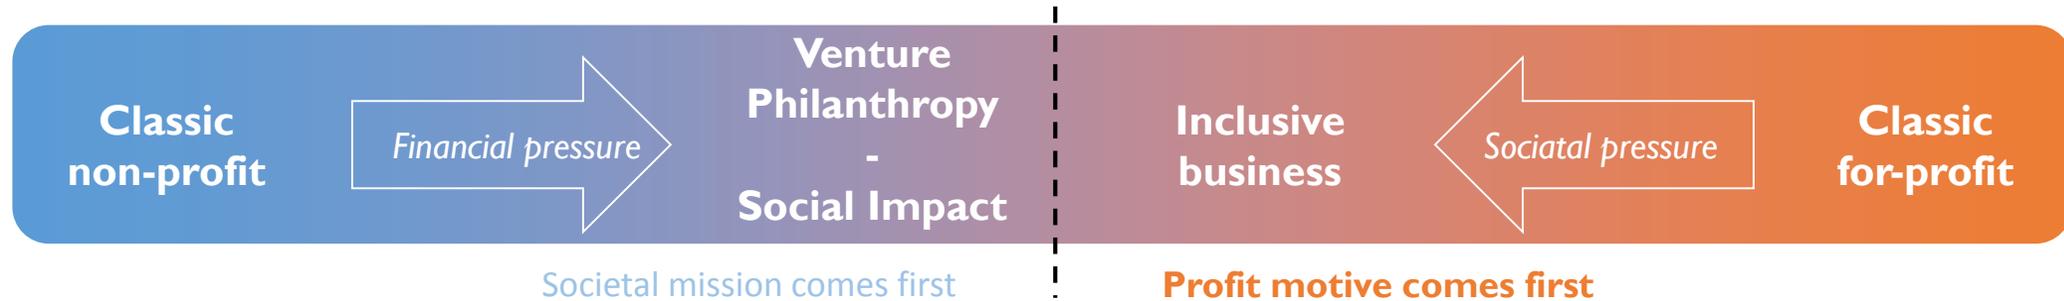

SUSTAINABLE DEVELOPMENTS GOALS (SDGs)

- Overarching framework:
 - to shape, steer, communicate and report on strategies, goals and activities of individual organisations
 - connected with global priorities
 - aligning the intentions of multiple stakeholders
 - calling explicitly on all actors, also business (↔MDG)
- Setting the ambition:
 - needed: $4,5tr/y (WEF & OECD on Blended Finance; 2015)
 - gap of around $3tr/y: need for leverage and scale

A framework, enabling partnerships and urging for scale

CHANGING LANDSCAPE: A PERFECT STORM

SDGs AS FRAMEWORK & TOOLKIT: SETTING GOALS

In action: Adopting a goal setting approach

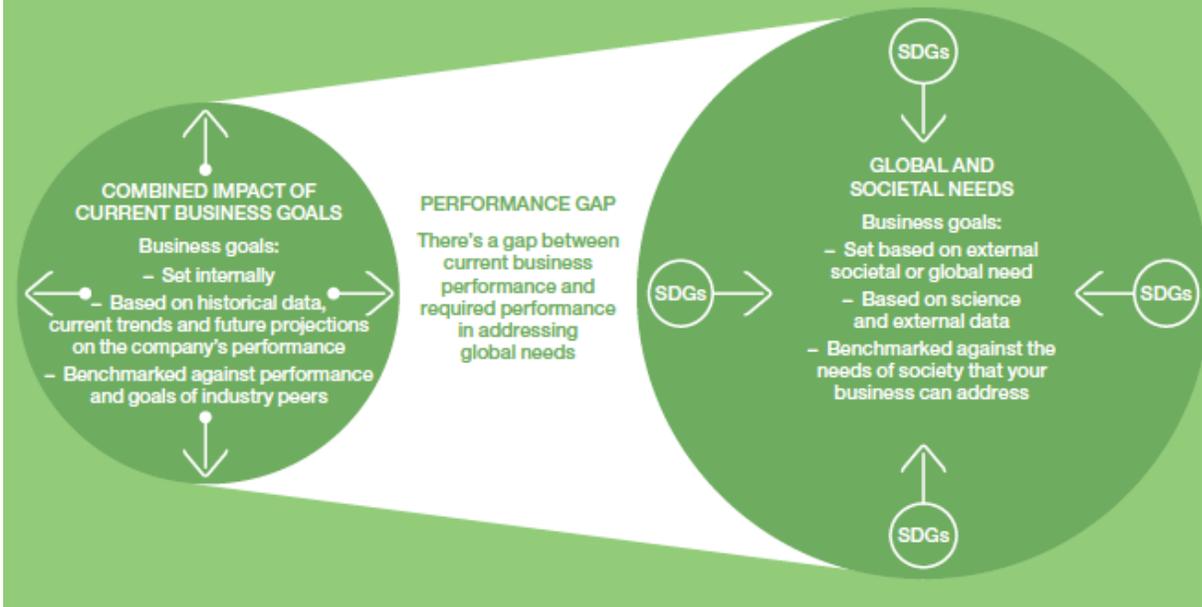

INSIDE OUT APPROACH

Today's internally focused approach to goal setting is not enough to address global needs.

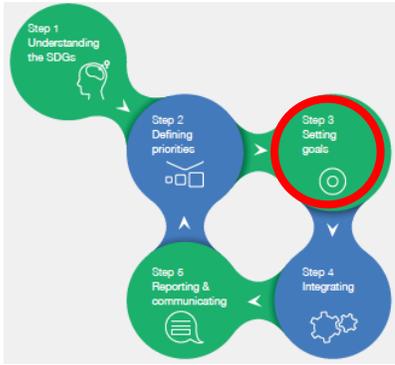

OUTSIDE IN APPROACH

By looking at what is needed externally from a global perspective and setting goals accordingly, businesses will bridge the gap between current performance and required performance.

The SDGs represent an unprecedented political consensus on what level of progress is desired at the global level
